Office: Nos. 25 and 27 Fourtecath Street. WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 19

Tue Governor's thankigiving proclamation is out in our local columns this morning. Its exceeding brevity is its leading feature. We are afraid it will hardly reach McDowellcounty in time to beget the proper spirit of thanksgiving among the proper spirit of thanksgiving among the proper spirit of thanksgiving among the people, prior to the day set apart in the President's proclamation for that important service.

Was Col. Ben Wilson an original greenbacker, or an original hard money man, or both?—Richie Gazette.

When he made that speech at Moundsville in 1876, during which he people and the tat possible that the Greenbackers have been owing for, but agenuine increase of the other speech at Washington Hall, during which he said that he did not ask the velocit of any hard money man, he was, of course, an original soft money man, he was, of course, an original soft money man, he was, of course, an original soft money man, he was, of course, an original soft money man, but when, in 1878, he made that the contraction of the Compton of the Wayneslourg and Washington Hall, during which he said that he did not ask the velocity of an experiment some time are so in the report of the Director of the Mintwith the last the song known as "Jump Jim Crow."

days previous to October 21st the receipts for passenger fare, at the usual rates were $306 50. From October 21st to October 31st, ten days at excursion rates, without extra trains, the receipts were $338 90. From November 1st to November 10th, at usual rates, the receipts were $269 75. This is a difference over the first period of $32 40, and over the last period of $69 15 in favor of cheap fares. How Many People Have Fifty Bollar

Some one said the other day that in the entire world the number of people who had $50 or its equivalent in cash at their command was extremely small; so small ndeed, that they would not outnumber the inhabitants of the little kingdom of the inhabitants of the little kingdom of Belgium, which has a population of less than 6,000,000 souls. But this estimate seems to be far helow the mark in the light, for instance, of the fact that in the savings banks of France in 1877 there were deposited no less than $155,800,000 by 2,563,282 depositors, the average sum of each depositor being about $60. The number of these depositors continually increases, and they are to great extent members es, and they are, to a great extent, members of the working classes. So in England, also, the number of depositors in the posalso, the number of depositors in the postal savings bank is very large not less, on the whole, than two millions; and their deposits on an average amount nearer to Eo. 10, the limit allowed being $50. In Scotland and Ireland the savings of the people are large and constantly increasing. In termany the people do not generally place their savings in banks, but they have comfortable little sums laid away in teapots and old stockings. This, also, is the case in France. In this country the number of people who have $50 at their command must amount to quite as many as in either France, Germany or Great Britain. The world of working people is not nearly so poor as many imagine it to be.

As the years roll on the wealth of the world increases, and as new sources of wealth are developed the distribution of wealth widens out. The consumptive power of the masses is greater now than in past times. Witness the comforts that are to be found in their homes as compared with even a generation ago. Better furniture, better food and better clothes tell the story. Books, pictures, musical culture, newspapers, &c., are getting to be each year more and more general in the houses of the laboring millions. There are yet closed each year laborate and the story of the story. Books are getting to be each year more and more general in the houses of the laboring millions. There are yet closed each year laborate as the teen so much competition years, as has ensued this fall. Messrs. Lazear & Finnell of Pittsburgh, came here and established a large store, began advertising extensively, and soon had a large custom, this roused some of the old merting the store of the store of the competition of the story. to be developed boundless sources of chants, so that the contest has been rath wealth. Wealth begets a thousand new demands on the part of those who possess it, and this demand diversifies human employment, and is a source of wealth of itself, or rather of the distribution of it. Witness the distribution of money for adornments and luxuries that took place Clerk Ambrose was accepted this morning, in San Francisco, by reason of the splen- to take effect when his successor shall did reception given to Grant. INTELLIGENCER, in a letter published in gation, or in the prosecution of any civil Monday's issue, called attention to the or criminal proceeding which such inves-Monday's issue, called attention to the great need in that part of the State of the farmers paying more attention to raising sheep instead of horses and other stock that had not proved a reliable paying business. There is probably no State in the Union better adapted to sheep culture than West Virginia, on account of its mountainous character, and its good from preconceived impressions as pracits mountainous character, and its good grass and water. Such men as Hon, Wm. G. Brown and Senator Jones, of Preston county, have endeavored to excite an interest in this industry in their part of the State, by pointing out how much more permanent and reliable it is than the shuck business. Mr. Brown expressed his regret over the lack of a proper law for regulating the dog nuisance throughout the State—a nuisance that has seriously interlered with the spread of sheep raising. It has been said that the amount of mouney wasted in West Vienina cn. of money wasted in West Virginia on Bobby, You Can't Go Back on Your superfluous dogs would educate all the poor children. These worthless dogs are the foes of the sheep business. Over in the News has verified the correctness of Ohio they manage things differently as the dispatch received from General Robt. respects this nuisance. There they have Toomb, sof Atlanta, Ga., on the 12th. The respects this misance. There they, have a law that provides "that all sheep killed by dogs shall be paid for out of the fund which arises from taxes on dogs throughout the State. If the owners of the dogs are able to pay, the value of the sheep is collected from them by summary process."

We doubt if it would be possible to pass

We doubt if it would be possible to pass such a law in West Virginia, so many more people who have votes being interested in dogs than in sheep. And yet we lieve it. We rather guess that in the ested in dogs than in sheep. And yet we notice by one of the Parkersburg papers that "a wool buyer, purchasing wool for several years in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, reports that the wool in West Virginia, reports that the wool in the three two States, only there is a very little of it, owing to the destruction of sheep by dogs. He expressed the opinion that if West Virginia would enact the Ohio, deal key that it, could the hyperbeau of the destruction of the proposes to take another tack, and only add that George is a badly fooled man, and, changing the figure will not get even a mess of pottage for his birthright. We mourn for him.

"I Also find that a man with the diacounty is perhaps making greater relative progress just at this time than any other county in the State. Some of the most interesting discussions on the subject of sheep that we have seen have taken place at the meetings of her local wool growers. This is an example that the interior farmers may well follow. If Tyler county lands can be profitably devoted to sheep tillage the cheaper lands of the interior can surely be made equally profitable.
